IDEA CORNERSTONES · FOR LEARNERS

Ready for the real road

Five lessons that prepare you for driving on your own. No pressure, no rules, just real experience before you need it.

It's OK to...

- Display P plates after you pass, so other drivers give you more space.
- Say no to a lift, a passenger, a dare or a journey that feels wrong.
- Ask a mate to quieten down or put their phone away.
- Drive at the speed that feels right, whoever is behind you.
- Pull over if you're tired, upset or unsure.
- Ring home for a lift at any hour, no questions asked.
- Not feel ready yet for some journeys. Confidence comes with experience.
- Ask for the lessons you want, including a parent sitting in.

Ask your instructor about the five lessons

Rural roads at night · Bring a friend or two · Music on · The long trip · Talk it through

Every mile matters.

IDEA CORNERSTONES · FOR PARENTS

Get involved

Think of it like a school parents' evening. You don't need a car or time for practice, just come along, see how they drive, and ask your questions.

What you can do

Sit in on a lesson

Watch from the back and ask the instructor anything.

Ask about each lesson

Your instructor will send a short update after each one.

Make one promise

A lift home at any hour, no questions asked.

The five lessons

1. Talk it through. Alcohol, drugs and seatbelts, discussed as adults.
2. Rural roads at night. The roads they'll use most, driven in the dark.
3. Bring a friend or two. What a journey with mates really feels like.
4. Music on. How different music changes focus and speed.
5. The long trip. Car checks, motorway driving and rest breaks.
